Local Girl Wins Top State Essay Honors

NUMBER ONE IN THE STATE . . . Dr. Robert Jasmine (left) Campbell optometrist, notifies Sue Koester, Campbell High student, that she is the winner in the state essay contest.

Susan Koester, 16-year old Campbell Union High School senior, was honored at a banquet in San Diego last night (Wednesday) in the U. S. Grant Hotel. She was first-place winner in a statewide essay contest on "Safer Driving through Better Vision—Help Save Lives", in competition against winners from more than 4,000 California high schools.

At the banquet, which was sponsored by the California Optometric Association as part of a four-day annual convention now underway, Susan was presented with $100 in cash and a commemorative plaque by Jackie Coogan, former Hollywood child screen star. Coogan represented the Vision Conservation Institute which co-sponsored the annual state contest along with the National Safety Council.

Susan was accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Koester of 373 Sunnybrook Drive and her English teacher, Mrs. Robert (Peggy) Steacy, and the trips were part of her award. Her father is an instrument maker in the physical sciences division at Stanford Research Institute.

Dr. Robert R. Jasmine of Campbell was also present at the awards banquet.

Earlier, Susan won first place, $25 in cash and a gold trophy cup in the local contest co-sponsored by Campbell Rotary club and Santa Clara County Optometric Society.

Despite Financial Woes

'C of C Goes Ahead With Plans for 'Old Settlers'

There will be an Old Settlers' Day celebration in Campbell on May May 17-18-19 and the parade which has become a traditional part of the event will be on Sunday afternoon.

Despite the fact that the Chamber of Commerce faces a grave financial crisis, the Board of Directors on Tuesday authorized Sam Cava, secretary-manager, to proceed with plans for the 65th annual celebration, the second oldest in the state of California.

The directors will meet again next Tuesday, February 26, when measures will be taken to stave off the "closing of the doors" of the Chamber of Commerce. Douglas Beatty, new president, said that the first move will be to try to get the 50 members who are delinquent now in their 1957 dues to pay up.

Other drastic steps must also be taken, he said, if the Chamber is to retain Sam Cava as manager.

The directors felt that the Chamber had an obligation to continue the Old Settlers' celebration despite the lack of the financial wherewithal.

A general chairman for the Old Settlers' Day is expected to be appointed next week.

Beatty, who presided at his first meeting, said that the plight in which the Chamber finds itself was definitely a paradox, for 1956 has been rated as the most successful for the C. of C. in the entire history of the community.

The youthful president is hoping that those members, or potential members, who have been lax in paying their dues will realize the predicament which is, he points out, simply a matter of arithmetic. He has set a goal of 300 members for this year and feels that should this objective be realized that the C. of C. will be on a stable financial basis.

"Until that goal is reached, however," Beatty said, in appealing for members to pay their dues at once, "the going is going to be plenty rough. We need help NOW but fast."

Students Become 'State' Officers

Seven Campbell High School students all members of the local Hi-Y groups, left Wednesday for Sacramento in participate in the 9th Annual Youth in Government session which runs through Saturday.

The Campbell contingent was part of the group of 13 boys and girls representing Hi-Y's and Tri-Hi-Y's under the jurisdiction of the YMCA of San Jose and Santa Clara Valley.

Three of the local students, Dave Andre, John Duncan and Arthur Lantz will serve as assemblymen at the session. "Assemblyman" Lantz will gain further distinction as he is the author of a bill which he will present on the floor of the "assembly". A bill will be introduced by each local group in the state. Lantz' bill pertains to the exempting of tax-supported schools from paying the sales tax.

Three other students, John Davenport, Pat Franco and Jim Mitchell, will serve as advocates while Bill Duncan will be a "delegate-in-training."

Pat Partridge, a Los Gatos High School student, has been named "governor" for the session.

In last weeks issue of The Campbell Press, the paper had Schoenberger's Shell Service selling Atlas tires while S and W Chevron Service carried the copy meant for the Shell station. Both ads were part of the Campbell Merchants cooperative ad, so it was mighty easy to make a mistake and insert the wrong copy. Gee Whiz! Everybody knows that Atlas tires are sold only by Standard Oil and Chevron stations.

Heavy Lifting

Two San Jose youths who did some extra heavy work in the field of crime last week must be certain by now that crime does not pay off by weight.

Campbell police on Tuesday arrested Myron L. Stoddard, 19, and his 16-year old companion for the theft of three ridgers, weighing about 1200 pounds, from Thomas Marin's implement and blacksmith shop on Railway Ave.

The youths admitted renting a trailer for $5 last Friday afternoon, driving to the shop and making off with the three ridgers, mobile dike builders used in farm work. The ridgers were in an open field. They later sold them to a San Jose steel dealer for $9.30. Murray Martin, the shop owner's son, later recognized the ridgers at the steel company when he was in there on business.

The police took over from there.

Post Office Location Comes Before Planners

City Planners will get into the act on the much-discussed location for the new Campbell post office tonight when they hold a public hearing on the request for a use permit and parking and setback variances for the construction of a proposed post office building at N. First St. and Campbell Ave. Application for the use permit and the variances have been filed by Oliver Jensen and Henry Jewell, who recently acquired the old First Methodist Church property at Campbell Ave. and First St.

Approval of the location by the postal department has been held in abeyance pending the outcome of the Planning Commission's action tonight. Originally postal authorities had picked a spot on N. Central Ave. near Grant St. for the new office. However, the department halted proceedings when it became apparent that public sentiment did not favor the Central Ave. location because of the narrow street and lack of adequate parking facilities.

Under Jensen and Jewell's tentative plans, which have had the blessing, more or less, of postal authorities, the post office building would face N. First St. on the rear of the church property and a 20-foot driveway would open onto Campbell Ave. The remainder of the property would be available for other commercial buildings.

The use permit is necessary because the property on which the building will be located is now zoned residential, although that portion on Campbell Ave. is commercial. The parking and setback variances are needed because the planned use of the property does not allow sufficient parking based on the square-foot formula set up by city ordinance.

If the Planners give their okay tonight, Jensen and Jewell plan to submit their plans immediately to the post office department for approval. If the postal authorities like the idea, they will then request a land-option agreement from Jensen and Jewell and submit the proposed plans to bidders. Bidding will be on a lease arrangement whereby the post office will lease the quarters, built to their specifications, for a period of 5, 10 or more years.

The location on N. First St., exclusive of the driveway onto Campbell Ave., is valued by the owners at approximately the same price as the site on N. Central. The 20-foot driveway onto Campbell will, however, Jensen and Jewell claim, make the property more valuable, as it eliminates this portion from any possible future commercial building.

The question of whether there is sufficient parking facilities for the proposed set-up, however, may evoke considerable discussion and possible opposition.

Heavy Agenda Faces Planners Again Tonight

Although action on the post office is expected to attract the most attention tonight at the City Planning Commission meeting, the Planners again face a heavy agenda, including matters continued from their previous meeting.

That the apartment building "boom" is still continuing (last meeting a total of 78 units were approved) is evident by the fact that three more plans for apartments (31 units) will be up for approval tonight. William King is asking for approval of 16-units on the southeast corner of N. Central Ave. and Harrison Ave., F. V. Shoemake for a 5-unit dwelling on the southwest corner of Cherry Lane and Winchester Road and Robert G. Wilson for 10 units on Union Ave.

The perennial request for the use of the southeast corner of San Jose-Los Gatos Road and Hamilton for a fireworks and cherry stand will also face the Planners. Paul Knoll is applying for the fireworks job while A. Perucci, of the Mayfair Packing Co. is requesting the fruit stand.

Continued from last meeting is the application of the G. and P. Equipment Rental Co., 473 N. San Jose-Los Gatos Road for a use permit to allow their business to be operated at that location. Because of the protest made by A. C. Goulding, 361 N. San Jose-Los Gatos Road, whose property adjoins the business, the Planners have held the matter under ad-

Some Residents Get Break on Sewer Fees

Because the asssessments levied in four areas in Sanitation District No. 4 raised more money than the actual cost of the sewer projects, residents of those particular areas will be credited on their nonhly maintenance charges on a pro-rata basis with this excess.

Steve Goodman, district manager, estimates that on this basis residents in the four areas will be be exempt from the $1.10 monthly charge for approximately the next three years. The four assessment districts have accumulated $54 000 in excess funds.

Goodman figures that approximately 3000 property owners are affected by this move with about one-third of them located in the immediate Campbell area.

The areas affected are listed as projects 1953-1; 1954-1; 1955-1 and 1956-1. Goodman explains that the assessments are levied as a rule when residential areas already built up convert from septic tanks to sewers. By necessity, he said, the assessments are always gauged a little higher than the actual cost.

Project 1953-1 includes part of the Burbank area and extetnds also to Rosemary Lane (between Winchester and Eden). It also includes Maywood off the San Jose-Los Gatos Road; 1954-1 is mostly in hte La Rinconada area while 1955-1 includes Thelma Ave., Midway to Union, Neal Ave to Santa Clara-Los Gatos Road. and Midway to Union, Apricot to Union, and San Jose-Los Gatos Road, Ridgley, McBain Ave., Fewtrell and E. Campbell to San Jose-Los Gatos Road.

The Sanitation District manager reported that the property owners affected will receive a monthly bill marked "paid" and hopes to get the plan in operation by April. They will also be notified when the funds are exhausted.

Cost of Sewers

Seven industrialists planning to build in the new Campbell-Los Gatos Industrial Park learned Wednesday night from Steve Goodman, Sanitation District manager, what is necessary and the cost to get adequate sewers into the tract.

Goodman explained how a trunk line through the center of the park would allow the various industries to tie onto it. Approximately 186 acres are "adjacent" to the line and another 86 "tributary"

The meeting of the industralists held in the Campbell City Hall, was sponsored by the Campbell Chamber under the direction of Sam Cava, secretary-manager.

EVACUATION DAY AT MORELAND . . . Mrs. Hazelle Knudtsen, library clerk at the Moreland School, took over the duties of crossing guard last Friday when the Moreland schools staged a mass evacuation. Mrs. Knudtsen is pictured stopping traffic while the seventh and eighth graders from the school cross Payne Ave. Under the direction of Mrs. Gussie Baker, district superintendent, with all faculty and administrative personnel assisting, the evacuation program, as a part of the civil defense and disaster training, went off as per schedule. All four schools in the district participated in the drill. Parents of youngsters in the sixth grade and below called for their children at the schools. The entire evacuation was completed within an hour. Mrs. Baker this week extended her appreciation to all the parents who cooperated, many of whom were forced to walk considerable distance.—Campbell Press photo....

School Kids Get Holiday Treat

Nicolas Colombo, owner and developer of the Holiday Shopping Center at Saratoga Ave. and Payne Ave., will play host this Friday, for the second year to the school children of the Moreland School District at a George Washington Birthday Party. As a resident neighbor, he will treat the youngsters to hot dogs, cold drinks and ice cream, starting at 10 a.m. The refreshments will be served at the Moreland School cafeteria which is directly opposite the Holiday Shopping Center. All the children in the district's four schools have been invited.

As it will be a school holiday the party will not be under school supervision. The youngsters will be brought to the Moreland school by their parents where they will be assembled and be served by classes. The kindergarten group will be served first, followed by the lower grades through the eighth grade. Students from all four schools, Moreland, El Quito Park, Bucknall and Strawberry Park have been invited. There are approximately 1660 students.

Let's Get the Answers

A "town meeting" is to take place in the columns of The Campbell Press during the next few weeks as a public service to the people of this community.

In a series of articles The Press, in association with city officials, will try to answer the pressing questions of needed city improvements. Then the people will be asked to tell how they feel about it and, if they will be willing to help carry their share of the financial load to obtain the improvements.

A "ballot" will be included in the last article so that the readers will have an opportunity to let their desires be known. The City Council hopes by this means to gain some idea of how the people feel.

Are you as a citizen of Campbell willing to pay for progress?

What does the City of Campbell need in the way of city improvements?

What basic services are the citizens getting today and how much will these same services need to be expanded in the future?

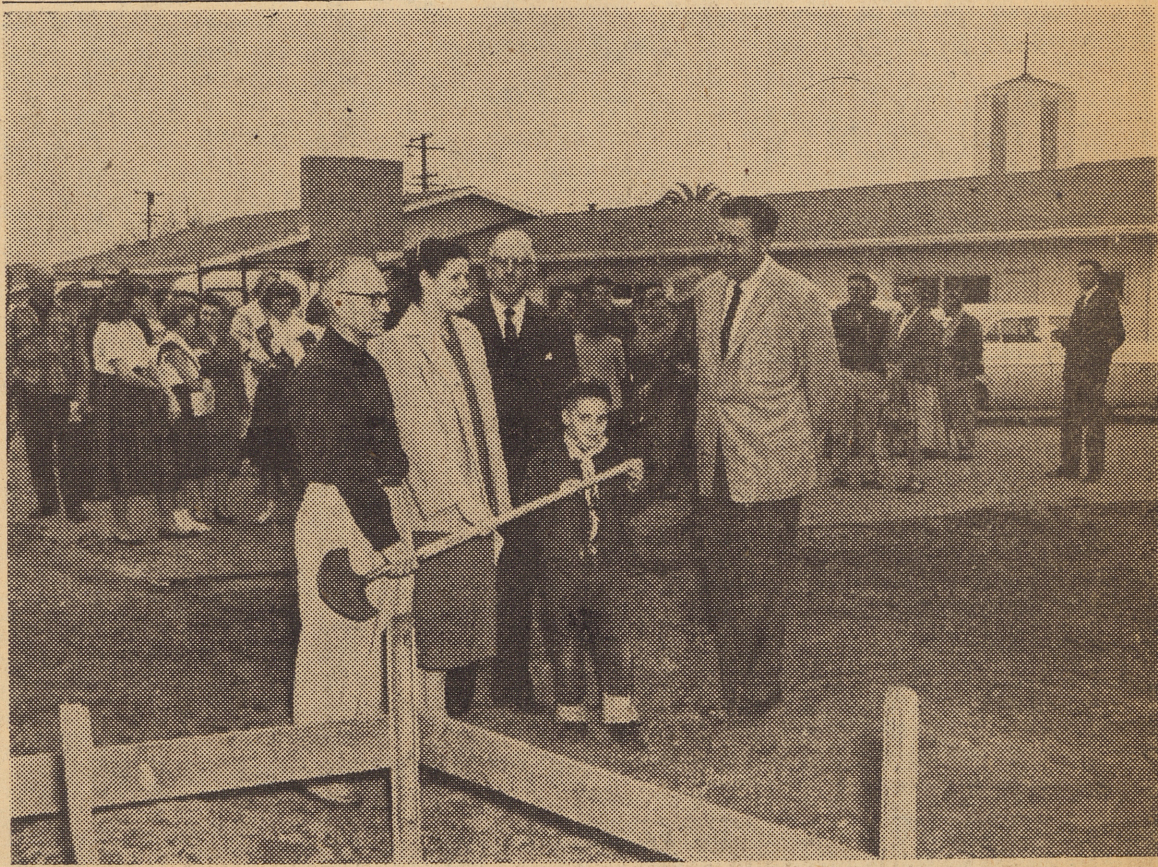
What type of street improvments are needed?

What kind of a storm drain project is necessary?

What should be planned in the way of recreational facilities and how many fire houses are needed to adequately serve the town?

How can these improvements be financed? As a citizen of the City of Campbell will you support a bond issue and pay the increased taxes in order to obtain these improvements?

These are some of the questions The Campbell Press hopes to answer through a series of articles sarting next week. Councilman Richard Morton, the city' first mayor who has served on the City Council since the city was incorporated and is probably more familiar with problems of this community than any other person, has agreed to assist in preparing these articles. The presentation has also been sanctioned by the entire City Council.



PUTTING THE SHOVEL TO USE . . . Ground breaking ceremonies for the Rev. Joseph H. Bennett Memorial Hall took place last Saturday morning on the Campbell Congregational Church grounds. The late Rev. Bennett, long-time pastor of the local church, was the founder of the Cub Scout movement in this country and active in youth work in the community. It is planned that the memorial hall will be used primarily as a youth center. Among these taking part in the groundbreaking ceremony were left to right, George (Dobie) Jeffers, building committee chairman; Mrs. Joseph H. Bennett, widow of the minister; Myron L. Fairchild, program chairman and Councilman Richard Morton who was a member of Rev. Bennett's Cub Scout pack. Holding onto the shovel is Joel Franks, 671 Robin Lane, a member of Cub Pack 9, Den 9.—Campbell Press photo

Long-time Local S. P. Agent Dies In San Jose at 93

Charles Berry, 93, retired station agent in Campbell for the Southern Pacific Co., died on Monday of this week in a San Jose hospital. He retired from his job here with the S. P, in 1930 after serving as agent for 43 years.

CHAS. BERRY

He came to this country at the age of 15 from his native Burnley, England, and he and his wife, Gertrude, who survives him, celebrated their 66th wedding anniversary last December.

After his retirement he moved to San Jose. At the time of his death their home was at 1323 Mariposa Ave.

For 60 years, however, he was a member of the Morning Light Lodge 42, IOOF, Campbell and just a few months ago in an appropriate ceremony he was awarded a 60-year pin by the lodge. He was also a member of the Charity Lodge, F and AM, in Campbell.

In addition to his widow, he leaves two sons, Clifford B., San Leandro; and Millard W., of Redwood City; a sister, Mrs. Lizzie Watson of Stockton; five grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Wednesday morning in San Jose and officers of the Morning Light Lodge participated. Burial was in Oak Hill Memorial Park.

Chamber Manager Attends Confab

"The most important single institution in California in meeting the problems of growth is the local chamber of commerce, and the promotion of the economic progress of each community is the task of the local chamber," James Mussatti, general manger of the California State Chamber of Commerce, told chamber managers assembled for the 44th annual convention held at the historic 150 year old Casa Munras in Monterey last Wednesday.

Sam P, Cava, Campbell Chamber of Commerce manager, attended the meeting in which Mussatti told the managers local chambers are destined to play an important role in the solution of statewide problems of water supply, water and air pollution, conservation of natural resources, flood control, location of new industries, agricultural expansion, highway development and revival of maritime trade on the Pacific Coast.

Fiesta-Carnival Set for May 26

Tentative date set for the Cambrian Fiesta-Carnival is May 26th, Vern Weltz and Jim Biles, cochairmen of the event, announced after last week's meeting of the Cambrian District Men's Club which was also attended by Ralph Button, president; Bill Lynd, vice-president; and Albert Handley. All proceeds will go to the Youth movement of the Cambrian district.

The main award to be decided by a drawing will be outdoor furniture. Other prizes to be awarded hourly will be sleeping bags, a fishing pole and reel combination, a camp cookstove, and luggage type folding tables.

The club plans to print 6,000 tickets which will be sold from May 6 through May 24 by the children of the district. Frosty Andrews, of the Cambrian School faculty, will be in charge of art work for publicity purposes, and Jim Biles is trying to secure a merry-go-round and power ride as a special feature for the younger children.

Heavy Agenda

visement with the hope that the applicants and Goulding could get together to discuss their problems.

Another continued matter facing the Commission is the application for approval of the plans for a commercial building at Rincon Ave. and Winchester Road of Marian Nimerick. At the previous meeting, it was suggested that Nimerick contact the owner of the adjacent store (Jack Arends of Winchester Hardware, as to a mutual parking arrangement. Nimerick was also asked to submit new plans based on the proposed widening of Rincon Ave.

Still nother matter held over from last meeting is the application for approval of plans for an automatic car wash operation at Latimer and Winchester Road. The Commission rejected the plans for the business at the last meeting because of the noise factor involved.

However, the matter was referred to Commissioner Jim Tomlinson for further study and report and the resubmission of new plans. Tomlinson is scheduled to make his report tonight. The Planners were worried because the car wash operation is adjacent to large apartments. Albert and Henry Frank are the applicants.

The twice-presented and twice-withdrawn subdivision map for the Quito Rancho, a commercial and multiple dwelling tract in Los Ranchitos submitted by the Trojan Construction Co., is also scheduled to be resubmitted tonight.

Other matters on the agenda include, a setback report submitted by Nestor Barrett, planning consultant, which will allow 15-feet instead of the present 20-feet; discussion on hte Federal Aid funds available for planning purposes; a report from the joint industrial committee (Los Gatos-Campbell) and discussion on the change of meeting dates from Thursdays to Tuesdays. Two zone change requests, one for Kenneth Fishburn on Hamilton Ave. and the other by Cosmo Perrotta for Garrison Drive at Winchester are also before the Commission.

SJS Baseballers Open New Season

Under a new coach, but with a strong nucleus of veteran players, San Jose State baseball team opens a 33-game schedule today against California.

Ed Sobczak, former Michigan State star who last year guided Willow Glen High to the Southern PAL championship, will be starting his first season as Sparton head coach. He succeeds veteran Walt Williams who has retired after 35 years of teaching and coaching.

The Spartans, operating independently will play 11 games with CIBA and PCC opponents—three each with California, Stanford and Santa Clara and a pair with Oregon. In addition, the Spartans have games with Pacific (3), Fresno State (3), USF (4), Sacramento State (2), San Francisco State (4), San Diego State, Chico State, Pepperdine, San Diego NTC (2), and San Diego Marines.

Buc JB's Defeat Camden High 40-31

Campbell's J.B basketball team took the measure of Camden's JB's last Friday at the Buc gym by a score of 40-31.

It was a hard fought contest all the way as both teams fought to win. Campbell's weakness on the foul line was overcome by good floor play and the shooting of Corbus and Straight. Bridge and Winslow kept Camden in the game.

Campbell Bucs Los to Santa Clara By 49-39 Score in SCVAL Battles

By Richard Ferguson

Larry Guilford, Bob Lister and company notched a feather in their hats last Friday night by dumping the Campbell Buccaneers 49-39 on the winners' court.

Fremont disposed of Mt. View at the same time to create a four way tie for second place in SCVAL play, Campbell, Santa Clara, Mt. View and James Lick each have identical 5-2 records.

The arctic met the tropic in the shooting of the two clubs as the Panthers sizzled the nets with a barrage of jumps, sets and hooks, while the Bucs couldn't seem to find the range no matter what the style. The Bucs must hit better against James Lick this Thursday evening on their own court or they might as well turn in the chips. A loss to Lick will slide the Bucs into third place.

Starting off fast, the Bucs led early in the game but were quickly overcome by the hustling Panthers. Half-time saw the Bucs on the short end of the 25-17 score. Santa Clara went wild in the third quarter boosting the score to 42-23 with Larry Guilford providing the punch on some fine jump shots.

Campbell began to find the hole in the rim late in the final canto when Santa Clara's third string entered the game.

Campbell outscored the Santa Clara Panthers 16-7 in the last period but ran out of time and wound up the game 10 points down.

Roger Almquist led his teammates in the scoring column with 12 counters one under his game average of 13. Jerry Shenefiel showed some of his old flash on defense and sank 10 points on a combination of drive ins and set shots. Gene Andres brought down some fine rebounds and added 8 markers to the Buc cause. Bob Bridge transfer from New York State entered the game in the third quarter and snatched quite a few rebounds from the hands of big Bob Lister and Larry Guilford. Guilford tallied 23 points to lead his fellow players and his rivals.

In the preliminary tilt the little Bucs were soundly humiliated by the slick Santa Clara thirties who out scored the Bucs 42-26. Working like seasoned veterans the little Panthers bewildered the Bucs the entire game after the Bucs opened the game strong with a quick 8 points.

Tom Perry led his teammates in the scoring column with 9 digits followed by Ben Lujan with 5 counters.

Spartans Still Retain Slim Chance for Title

Still retaining a slim chance for the California Basketball Association title, San Jose State makes its final bid in the next 10 days with games against each of the other three first division teams in the hot CBA race.

Walt McPherson's Spartans, in fourth place with a 7-4 CBA record, meet second place St. Mary's (7-2) at Spartan Gym Friday night, clash with third place Santa Clara (6-3) next Tuesday at San Jose Civic Auditorium and entertain two-time NCAA and CBA champion USF (8-2) at Spartan Gym March 1.

Woody Woodpecker Aids PG&E in Kite Flying Warnings

Wooden-headed Woody Woodpecker comes within an ace of electrocution and several other disasters before he learns eight valuable safety rules, in Pacific Gas and Electric Company's 1957 comic book on Kite Flying Safety. Copies of the new edition of the popular annual safety guide for youngsters are now available free at all Pacific Gas and Electric offices.

The colorful, 16-page book was designed for Pacific Gas and Electric by Walter Lantz Productions, Inc., creators of Woody. It is circulated by the company to help educate children and inform parents in the ways to avoid injury and property damage during the coming kite-flying season. Nearly half a million copies will be distributed.

Several pages of illustrated instructions in correct kite construction are included in the booklet. The story has Woody Woodpecker living dangerously by such methods as wiring a kite together and using metallic string to fly it, before he's taken firmly in hand by a boy and girl woodpecker who help him learn eight rules to avoid accidents while flying kites:

1. Never fly a kite in the rain.
2. Never fly a kite near electric power lines.
3. Never fly a kite with metal in the frame or the tail.
4. Never use tinsel string, wire or any twine with a metallic substance.
5. Never run across streets or highways while flying kites.
6. Never pull on the string or climb a pole to loosen a snagged kite.
7. Never touch fallen electric wires.
8. Never let a kite fly over radio or TV aerials.

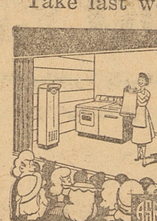
country living

by LUCY P. GAVIN

Going to County Fairs, church cooking schools and laundry demonstrations are surely pleasant ways to "get educated". Even if you think you know all there is to know about housekeeping techniques, you're sure to learn something new in spite of yourself.



Take last week for instance—I learned I was missing one of the "best bets" yet. Our water heater has a dial control that makes it possible to adjust the temperature as desired. But being "false economy minded" (or just plain lazy), I usually leave the dial at one point. We found that 130 degrees is a good temperature for ordinary hot water uses and nobody complains about the water's being too hot or too cold. But during a laundry show in a neighboring town last week, I really had my eyes opened. The difference in the whiteness of towels, shirts and sheets washed with very hot water against those washed in "ordinary" hot water was amazing. After this, you can bet that turning up the dial on my automatic LP-gas water heater is going to be my first order of business every washday.

It's surprising how easily the whole family just takes hot water for granted. That's probably because so far the supply has never run out. But remembering days when hot water was a problem, I mentally thank our LP-gas dealer occasionally. He talked us into installing an automatic water heater and connecting it to our LP-gas system.

I'm certainly glad we chose a model that replaces the hot water almost as fast as we use it. And now that I've learned the value of "extra hot" water for the laundry, I'll be taking full advantage of the dial controls.

Interclass Meet Open SJS Season

San Jose State track team will open a 20-meet schedule March 2 with the annual Interclass meet at Spartan Field.

Coach Bud Winter, starting his 13th season as Spartan track coach, will send his team through one of its more interesting regular season slates. In dual or triangular meets the Spartans will meet Arizona, Arizona State, Stanford, California, Washington, Fresno, Pacific, Idaho State, Santa Clara Youth Center, Olympic Club and Fort Ord.

Returning Spartan lettermen include sprinter Ron Giardina, hurdlers Van Parish and Wiley Schmidt, two miler Bob Rush, high jumpers Ray Ellis, and broad jumpers Harvey McCullough and Payne Greene.

Augmenting these holdovers will be a group of well rated junior college transfers headed by sprinter Ray Noron (Oakland), hurdler Clint Redus (San Francisco) and distance men Wes Bond (Hartnell), Mike Yeager (Compton) and Fred Green (Napa).

Alumni Cagers Down Varsity on Tuesday

In a practice tilt Tuesday afternoon the past greats of Campbell High met and defeated the present varsity 51-46 in an annual rivalry.

The varsity led almost the entire game but fell apart in the final quarter. The entire team saw action and played a good game on defense and offense.

Don Kitajima led his teammates in scoring with 13 markers followed closely by Ron Rowe with 12. Rog Almquist and Jerry Shenefiel did not see action as they weren't present for the game. Protiva led the varsity scorers with 13 markers with Hill pushing him closely with 12 counters.

Services Held For Norval B. Maderis

Services were held Monday in San Jose for Norval B. Maderis, 46, part owner of Crest Paper Co. on Union Avenue, who accidentally shot himself to death last Wednesday. He lived at 1148 Fremont Avenue, San Jose.

Maderis is survived by his wife, Francis, two children, David and Judy, and his mother, Mrs. Clara Maderis, all of San Jose.

"Don't Walk Yourself to Death" . . .

Campbell Rotary Club Launches New Community Safe Walking Campaign

"Don't Walk Yourself to Death!" is the grim warning adopted as a slogan for the "Safe Walking" campaign now being conducted here as a safety project of Campbell Rotary Club, under the direction of Douglas Fitzgerald, community service chairman.

The pedestrian safety campaign is part of a county-wide effort, sponsored by the Santa Clara County National Safety Council chapter.

"As many as half the traffic accidents in populated areas involve pedestrians, usually fatally," Fitzgerald points out.

To help in the attack against "wacky walkers," most of whom are just "plain careless," the Rotary club suggests that everyone should remember and practice these safety rules:

1. Cross streets at intersections only, or in marked crosswalks.
2. Never walk into the street from behind parked cars.
3. Wait on the sidewalk, not in the street, for a signal to change, or a break in the traffic flow.
4. Face traffic and walk on the left if there are no sidewalks.
5. At night, always wear reflective or light colored clothing, or carry something white.

About 20,000 Safety Council leaflets, listing these safe walking rules, are being distributed to West Valley homes by 225 junior high school Girl Scouts.

"All our efforts are bent on preventing careless walkers from becoming dead pedestrians, but too often they are successful!" Fitzgerald adds.

For First Semester

Fifty-Eight Students at Campbell High Get A Grades in All Subjects

During the first semester at Campbell High School, 58 students received "A's" in all subjects, it was reported this week when high school district officials released the names of those who qualified for the California Scholarship Federation.

In order to qualify for CSF, a student must make ten points, most of them through scholarship excellence. One point is given for major activity. An A grade is valued at three points, two points for a B and one for a C. Students making CSF every semester of their first three years, and one semester of their senior year, become life members of CSF.

A total of 183 students at Campbell made the coveted CSF. The breakdown by classes of this total was: seniors, 67; juniors, 35; sophomores, 43; and freshmen, 38.

At Camden High with only three classes, 77 qualified for CSF with 48 of these new members this semester. Of the total, 55 are girls and 22 boys. There were 30 "A" students and Corlyn Helppie won high point honors with 17. The three class breakdown was; juniors, 22; sophomores, 27 and freshmen 28.

The "A" students at Campbell High School for the first semester included: Eugen Andres, Carol Askildson, Everett Avila, John Beyer, Judy Boyd, Donald Brown, Charles Couch, Jim Deis, Davey Downing, Robert Friis, Marjorie Gonsalves, Paul Gregory, Gretchen Grube,

Carolyn Hannah, Frances Heinz, Lynda Hess, Arthur Hill, Leilani Johnson, Jim Kehrli, Jane Klinck, John Kriewall, Grace Kubota, Barbara Lansdale, Elaine Mayer, Pat Menne,

Pacific Telephone Sets Records But Not in Earnings

The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company set new records in everything but earnings in 1956.

This was the highlight of the Company's annual report, released recently by P.T. and T. President Mark R. Sullivan.

Copies of the report will soon be available to the public at the Company's business office at 190 N. 5th St., San Jose, according to Manager T. K. Nordheim.

Almost $423 million, or $1.6 million for every working day, went into new telephone plant and additions. A record outlay for a single year, this figure topped the 1955 construction program by more than $122 million.

Better than 513,000 telephones, reported as the highest one-year gain ever made, were added in 1956. In Campbell the number of telephones added last year totaled 2631, said Nordheim, bringing those in service here to 10583.

At year's end the company had over 6 1/4 million phones working in its five-state system.

"Our rate of earnings in 1956 stayed just about where it was in 1955," Sullivan said in the report. "In fact as the year closed, it was trending downward sharply due to increased costs, particularly wage increases granted in the last month or two of the year."

COUNTY GETS $3,057

Santa Clara County has received $3.057 as its share of $350,000 collected in 1956 from unrefunded motor vehicle fuel tax on aviation gasoline to airport cities and counties, Robert C. Kirkwood, state controller has announced.

Holy Cross High School

Registration for the new Holy Cross High School for girls (freshman class only) will be Saturday and Sunday, March 2 and 3, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon, and from 2 to 5 p.m. Place of registration is St. Joseph's Elementary School, 1010 McKelvey Drive, Mountain View.

Local Artist to Display Work at Los Gatos Center

Francis Harvey Cutting, well known 84 year old Campbell artist, will display his paintings at the Los Gatos Art Association Center beginning March 2 and continuing through the month. The gallery, located at Austin Way and Lancaster Road, Los Gatos, is open to the public on Saturday and Sunday afternoons from 2 to 5.

The exhibition includes landscapes and seascapes. For the most part, Cutting has used oil as his medium but in the last few years has had equal success with watercolors. Many of his paintings have been purchased by schools and clubs as well as by individuals for their private collections.

Cutting came from his birthplace in Iowa in 1893 with his parents to settle in the Santa Clara valley. He graduated from the San Jose Normal School and taught for two years, then purchased a ranch near Campbell. A short time later, through the assistance of an uncle, he was able to devote his entire time to art. He studied at the College of the Pacific and worked with such artists as Adam, Harmon, Gilbert, Hudson, Lesaar, Peebles, and DeJoiner.

He has held one-man shows at the Thomas Wilton Art Gallery, Stanford, and at San Jose State College during the golden anniversary of the Class of 1897 of which Cutting is a member. His work has also been displayed in the Palace of the Legion of Honor, Gump's Art Gallery and in Monterey, Carmel and state and county fairs. Mr. and Mrs. Cutting who celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in October, 1943, live in the home they built at 125 Harrison St., Campbell and where they reared their family.

Drama Department At SJS Presents Comedy Tomorrow

San Jose State College department of Speech and Drama will present "Laburnum Grove" a delightful modern comedy by J. B. Priestley on two week-ends beginning Friday night. Productions will be staged in the College Theatre on the main campus.

Directed by John R. Kerr of the faculty, the all-student cast is headed by Ivan Paulsen, Eli Lu Galarza, and Leslie Robinson. These three form the three members of the Radfern family which finds itself in many humorous complications following the discovery that the quaint, pixie character of the father has for years been head of an international crime undertaking.

The romantic life of the daughter is directly effected, to her own good; the relationships with neighbors and relatives suffer some funny turns at the expense of this unusual progress of events. How the story ends is best left to the actual seeing of the play—for Priestley has an unusual twist here too.

Supporting cast members are Davey Schmitt, Sylvia Cirone, Richard Thomas, Kenneth Savickas, Edmond Holmes, John Rudd. The single interior setting has been designed by Rollin Buckman and costumes designed by Berneice Prisk, both of the college faculty. Students assisting in the technical production are Jim Haynie as Stage Manager, assisted by Jay Micheles. Lights are under the supervision of Dan Menzel, John Hall; sound effects will be handled by Dan Box and properties will be managed by Gordon Perry, Dave Shaver, Gwen Achziger, Calvin Calloway, Wanda McKeon, Ed Lang.

Moreland PTA Life Membership Goes to Principal

Moreland PTA celebrated Founders' Day Wednesday evening by suing the theme of "This Is Your Life" TV program to reveal the name of the Life Membership Award for this year. The surprised and honored member was Frank Lovoi, principal of Moreland School. T. O. Bergstrom was master of ceremonies who told the highlights of Lovoi's life and presented friends and relatives.

Lovoi was born in Campbell and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Lovoi of Parr Avenue. He is a graduate of both Campbell Grammar and Campbell High Schools and San Jose State College. During his three year service in the Air Force he became bombardier instructor at the Bombardier Navigation School at Victorville, California.

Lovoi first taught at Russel Elementary School at Hayward. He then became Principal and eighth grade teacher at Esparto Elementary School for three years. In 1954 he came to Moreland School as vice principal and at the end of six months was appointed principal. Last year he became Moreland PTA's first male president. He and his wife Barbara make their home in Saratoga.

Recently, Mrs. Gussie Baker, superintendent of Moreland School District, announced that the Board of Trustees had appointed Lovoi principal of the new upper grade school now being built on Campbell Avenue.

Past presidents and founders were also honored at this meeting and service pins were presented to the following persons in appreciation of their work for and with the youth of Moreland District: Mesdames Ray Coe, J. H. Ryder, Mike Palma, Justin Morton, Robert Straight, Gilbert Skinner, and Leroy H. Smith; and Messrs. Mike Palma, Guido Barretta and Gilbert Skinner.

Mrs. Lindgren presented the honorary membership pin to Mr. Lovoi and Mrs. Bertha Hoagland was chairman of the evening. Dr. Robert Taylor read the Inspirational.

Included on the program were Mrs. Ruth Nelson and John Kietman of San Jose, who sang selections from the Vagabond King", in which they had leading roles when it was presented in San Jose. A. A. Arnot spoke on community service and a youth program to be undertaken by the Grange.

Mrs. George Davis announced the local Home Economics meeting will be March 8 at the home of Mrs. Robert Lear on North Saratoga Avenue, and Pomona Home Economics meeting will be February 25 at Sunnyvale.

Students Give Novel Valentines

Valentines given this year by students of St. Lucy's School were markedly different from the ones usually exchanged by most childen throughout the nation. Their messages of love were the coins they would have spent buying Valentines for their friends but which they unanimously decided to give to the Hungarian Relief Fund.

The idea wasn't born on the spur of the moment. Their principal Sister Mary Florence, had mentioned the idea to them several weeks ago, saying she thought it would be nice to help needy Hungarians; the children took over from there. Each room made ready decorated Valentine boxes marked "Help Needy Hungarians" and on Valentines's Day dropped in their coins as they passed by. At the close of school, approximately $15 had been collected from each room, making a total of almost $100 which Sister Mary Florence sent to the Hungarian Relief Fund headquarters in New York.

Hamilton Teacher Awarded Life Membership Pin

Hamilton PTA held its annual family dinner Monday evening to celebrate Founders' Day and award a Life Membership pin to a surprised member, Mrs. Margaret Singleton, first grade teacher at Hamilton School.

The recipient was revealed by Mrs. Dorothy Royce, principal of Campbell Grammar School, who told the club how Mrs. Singleton has laid the educational foundation for many a little child in the first grade for over thirty years, and how gently she initiated these little folks into the mysteries of a whole new experience, a life at School. How thoroughly she developed their capacity for learning, how soundly she laid the foundation in Reading, Writing, and numbers. With an average of 33 students to a class over a thirty year period, she has helped an approximate total of 990 children.

Mrs. Royce outlined Mrs. Singleton's progress through the years from the time she first came to Campbell Grammar as a young woman and how, as the school grew, she served as Primary Vice Principal, but her love and first concern was for her first graders, and since she felt she could not do justice to them and carry on administrative duties, she asked to return to her classroom.

In these later years, Mrs. Royce continued, parents who have been started by this teacher have been requesting the privilege of having their children started in the first grade by this same teacher.

On the program third graders presented a play on George Washington and also sang three numbers, and "Where Money Goes for PTA" was discussed by a panel of Mrs. Leonard Meritt, vice-president of the Sixth District, CCPT; Mrs. Vince Garrod, president of El Paradiso Council, CCPT; and Mrs. Eugen C. Andres, Jr., parent-education co-ordinator of Campbell Union High School.

Eastern Star Host To Past Officers

Hearts and cupids decorated the chapter room and banquet hall when Campbell Chapter No. 553, Order of the Eastern Star, met the evening of February 15. Mrs. Harold Adams, worthy matron and Fred Johnson, worthy patron, presided.

Honored guests were Mr. and Mrs. James Arnold, worthy matron and worhy patron of the Chapter in 1950. Mrs. Arnold gave an interesting talk on her year as matron and introduced her officers present. They were Mesdames William Schluter, Edwin Parker, Don Hartman, Charles DeSelle, F. A. Coombs and Cora Kaufmann.

Girl Scout Troop 125, composed of eleven eighth graders of Campbell Grammar School, recently initiated two new members into the group. New Girl Scouts are Prudence Burton, from the Hawaiian Islands, and Julie Ann Lapin, from Los Angeles.

Troop 125 projects all revolve around the welfare of others not so fortunate as its members. Included in the girls' activities are: treats for the children at County Hospital at Thanksgiving; Christmas caroling at sanitariums and private homes; and collecting old clothes, records and books for children of Ming Quong Home in Los Gatos. Having completed the Conservation badge, they are currently working on the Seamstress badge.

House to House Canvass to Climax Heart Fund Drive

Campbell Heart volunteers, bringing the Heart Fund drive to a climax, will be found in every section of the community on Sunday, February 24, from 1:00 to 3:00 p.m., collecting contributions for the mass crusade against the heart diseases.

The house-to-house collection here will be similar to Heart Sunday collections being conducted in nearly 5,000 other communities throughout the United States on the same day, according to Mrs. Charles A. Quinn, Heart Sunday chairman.

"In each of these community drives, Campbell area's among them, the object of the Heart Sunday army is to give the average householder an opportunity to contribute, easily and privately, in sealed envelope, to the fight against heart disease," Mrs. Quinn said.

All proceeds of the concerted two-hour collection will go to augment the Santa Clara County 1957 Heart Fund which has a goal of $49,877. A major part of the money collected by the 57 affiliated Heart Associations and their chapters remains in the area and in the state of collection for the support of local research, education and community service.

In Campbell, Heart Sunday volunteers will be working under the leadership of Mrs. David Schrader, 1701 Marina Way. Captains she has appointed include Mrs. J. Bachman, 271 Harrison; Mrs. Jerry Ginney, 1661 Marina Way; Mrs. Norman Beam, 1211 E. Robway; Mrs. Arnold A. Dallman, 828 El Moro Drive; Mrs. Robert Randall, 376 Cambrian Drive; and Mrs. Dean Chamberlin, 174 E. Campbell Avenue.

Forum to Show Film on Europe's Toy Countries

Nicol Smith, an adventuring author of five books, most recent of which is Golden Doorway to Tibet, will present his color film, "Europe's Toy Countries" at the Sunday Evening Community Forum on February 24. The lecture will be held at the First Methodist Church, 5th and Santa Clara Streets, San Jose, at 7:30 p.m. Smith will narrate his film, and will describe the tranquil life of Europe's smallest nations, Andorra, Liechtenstein, San Marino and Monaco.

Smith has made an enviable reputation as an explorer of strange, remote and interesting places. He has wandered all over the South Seas; has spent six months in the Devil's Island penal colony; and has roamed the wild jungles of Dutch Guiana. During the war he was a secret agent for the OSS in both Vichy, France and Thailand.

Pineapple Glamorizes Ham Loaf

Excellent company fare, but don't wait for guests.

Meat loaf is a year-round favorite that provides almost unending variety in flavors . . . the more recipes you have the better.

Here's a dressed-up version, fine for guest dinner or buffet supper. The stuffing of canned pineapple tidbits and sweet potatoes lends a delicious flavor and keeps the loaf moist in the baking.

Round out the menu with a molded salad and a favorite dessert.

STUFFED HAM LOAF

¾ pound ground ham	½ teaspoon salt
½ pound ground beef	2 tablespoons brown sugar
⅓ cup fine dry bread crumbs	Dash allspice, cinnamon
½ cup milk	1½ cups drained pineapple tidbits
1 egg	1 cup mashed sweet potatoes

Mix ham, beef, crumbs, milk, egg and salt. Spread on waxed paper in oblong about 6 x 10-inches. Stir brown sugar, spices and ¾ cup only pineapple into sweet potatoes. Spread over meat and roll carefully like a jelly roll. Lift by waxed paper into shallow pan. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 1 to 1½ hours. Decorate loaf with remaining ¾ cup pineapple as shown. Sprinkle fruit lightly with brown sugar and run under broiler a few minutes to glaze. Serves 5 to 6.

Buffet Party Loaf: Double these amounts to serve 10 or 12 and cook about ½ hour longer.

"How old am I?"
asks Mrs. Larry Salzman
134 Santa Barbara, Daly City, California

It's a fact: A girl's best friend is her mother. Especially today, when so many mothers look and feel almost as young as their daughters.

What keeps them so youthful? Modern household appliances are a big help. They "take over" the heavy chores that once aged women long before their time.

Take Mrs. Salzman (that's daughter Geraldine on the right). This young-looking mother leaves most of her hard work to labor-saving appliances. She's 33.

Here's the beauty of it: With P. G. and E.'s bargain rates for gas and electricity you can run a houseful of appliances all day for just half the price of a bottle of hand lotion!

The Amount is Not the Point Here

The San Jose newspapers have taken exception to the $10 fine levied by Judge Paul W. Crawford of the Campbell-Los Gatos-Saratoga court, against Tony Cefalu, of the Campbell Sporting Goods, for the sale of the pistol to Jim Arends. The pistol was used a half hour later in a triple slaying.

Cefalu allowed the gun to be delivered before the expiration of the 72-hour waiting period as required by law, thus committing a misdemeanor punishable by a maximum sentence of six months in the County Jail and/or a $500 fine.

The San Jose newspapers criticized Judge Crawford's light sentence and compared it to fines that have been levied against speeders, claiming by his action in this case, that the judge appeared to consider the violation of Cefalu more trifling than speeding. This comparison is completely unfair.

We feel that Judge Crawford's sentences in many cases have been open to criticism. As a matter of fact, we have questioned some of them ourselves in the past and will continue to do so in the future.

In our opinion, a judge, as a public official, must be vulnerable to public opinion and thus criticism. He should not try to hide behind the robes of his office.

That is why we have no quarrel with the San Jose papers in their criticism of the judge's sentence in the Cefalu case. We disagree vehemently however with the San Jose papers in this instance. We think their criticism of Judge Crawford is basically unsound.

That the offense was committed there is no question, so there is no question of guilt or innocence involved.

We feel that whether the fine was $10 or $500 is immaterial. The size of the fine has no bearing in in this case. Three lives were snuffed out and the amount of the fine will not bring them back.

Unquestionably Cefalu has suffered far more from his pangs of conscience than from any amount of money that a court could assess against him. He had no way of knowing that Jim Arends was of unstable mind and would within a half-hour of purchasing the gun commit two murders and a suicide.

We are not attempting to defend Cefalu. He did violate the law. We are saying, however, that the amount of the fine in this case had no direct bearing to the offense.

We do not claim to know by what reasoning process Judge Crawford arrived at the $10 and 30 days probation but we maintain that justice in this case would not have been served any better had he levied the maximum penalty under the law.

A Report to the People

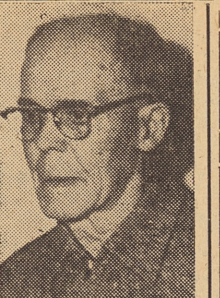
The Press plans, starting with next issue, to present a clear-cut picture of the needs of this community in the way of civic improvements. In a series of four reports we will touch on (1) what "growing pains'' have meant to a fledgling city starting from scratch in 1952; (2) the specific needs of storm sewers and streets; (3) the importance of a "revolving fund" for a city in the expansion of basic services. i. e. additional police protection, street sweeping, etc.; (4) the need for more firehouses, parks and a corporation yard and finally (5) summary of the situation showing the cost and how these improvements can be financed. The report will also show where the money to run a city comes from, and how much can be expected from general taxes, sales tax, state subventions and from a bond issue.

With the final report a straw ballot will be included. We sincerely hope that residents of the City will cut and return the ballot on which they will be able to indicate how far they wish the City to go in the obtaining and paying for these improvements.

We have no idea how you will respond to this rather ambitious undertaking on our part. We think the idea is sound, for it is in a sense a town meeting conducted through the columns of your community paper.

May we stress, however, that without your cooperation, the idea will fall flat on its face.

Over the Years



By John D. Blaine

The writer of my first fan letter, Sewall S. Brown, of Los Gatos, suggested, "Do you suppose you could write in your column, some time, concerning the origins of the name of the town of Campbell and its early founders and history?''

Various persons have asked in times past why Campbell is called such an unimaginative name. Why not a name of Spanish origin, like Santa Clara, San Jose, Los Gatos, Los Altos, and so on?

The answer seems to be that Campbell virtually named itself. A man named Campbell bought 160 acres of farm land back in the 1840's. A narrow gauge railroad was run through his land and a station was established there to pick up grain. The stopping place was naturally called Campbell's Station.

When this stopping place became a town the station part of the name was naturally dropped. Hence Campbell, and no imagination about it.

Benjamin Campbell was of Scotch blood but no drinker of Scotch whiskey. He was a very religious, moral, and determined man, as men of Scotch blood often were. So as he sold town lots he put a clause in every deed forbidding sale of alcoholic liquors on that property forever. And no liquor was legally sold in Campbell during his lifetime.

The other founders of the town were of similar convictions. I recall a new citizen who commented, "This is the first town I ever lived in that was not run by its saloon keepers.''

Benjamin Campbell attended church without fail, and also the Wednesday evening prayer meetings. He prayed aloud the same prayer, word for word the year round. It was very inclusive, and he saw no way of improving it. One phrase I clearly recall, this: "In this world we have many trials and tribulations." After I married one of his granddaughters I was one of them.

In particular he did not like my enthusiasm for tennis. He said it did not bring home bread and butter. He had a right to be concerned. Well he knew the tendency of some in his clan to get into financial difficulties and call on him for help. And he never had the heart to let them down.

I never knew Grandpa Campbell to play any game himself, either outdoor or indoor. The rough and tumble of real life—with the trials and tribulations he prayed about—was his sport. He took it all in stride.

Grandpa had come to California from Missouri by covered wagon train. The Campbell party had penetrated hostile Indian lands and dealt with other dangers without loss of a single life, of even a dog or cat. Having spied out the land, the party returned to Missouri for its women folk and came back, all by covered wagon train, still without loss of a life, of even a dog or a cat.

In contrast to troubles of most wagon trains this sanity was amazing. Grantland Rice, famed sports writer, said of celebrated Dizzy Dean, baseball pitcher, that no sane man ever had any color. Grandpa Campbell was singularly lacking in color. It logically followed that he was unusually sane.

The Bank of Campbell, of which Grandpa was one of the founders, made 16 per cent on the investment from the first year. It ran for 22 years without voluntarily foreclosing on a single mortgage or losing a single dollar on a local business man.

Grandpa could turn his hand to anything in work, from carpentry to running a stationary steam engine. He was one of the founders of Campbell Water Company, and he could run the steam engine that operated its pump. And he could climb down the well shaft on the long slippery ladder and and grease and tighten the row of drive shaft bearings that led to the pump, a job that was as much as your life was worth. I know because I did it a few times myself, scared stiff.

Grandpa was a modest man. He never made a public speech. At no public gathering was he ever master of ceremonies. If he knew about his being the subject of this column he would turn over in his Santa Clara Cemetery grave. So it was in keeping with this modest character of Benjamin Campbell himself that this town was not given a name at all high-flown.

OUT on the LIMB
with
George Vierhus

In this column last week we mentioned that a chicken was run over recently in one of the busier streets of town which indicated that the rural atmosphere was still present in the City of Campbell, despite the tremendous growth of recent years.

Coincidentally in the same issue in a front page picture we depicted a couple of Future Farmers, Richard Pugh and Bill Murphy, in the act of showing Postmaster Ira Grim and David Phillips, letter carrier, how they planned to dress up the rural-type mail boxes in the area. The youths, under the direction of Maurice Fleming, ag instructor, have undertaken the dressing-up of the boxes as a club project.

(Incidentally in rechecking the picture on the front page we find we were carried away about this rural atmosphere idea and listed Bill Murphy as "Bill Farmer". Sorry, Bill.)

—o—

We were curious about these rural-type boxes, because we had always connected them with the old RFD deal when the mailman would levier mail to the farms. We knew that, although Campbell was among the first to establish a RFD setup, such delivery had been discontinued in recent years but apparently enough of the traditional boxes remained to make a good project for the Future Farmers.

Postmaster Ira Grim informed us that there are still about 2500 such type boxes in the local mail district, constituting about half the total "stops''. He explained that these rural-type boxes are served by six mounted city carriers working out of the local post office.

Apparently there isn't a great deal of difference between the old RFD set-up and the city mounted. The people who are served by the mounted mailmen must have their mail boxes on the street. As the lots are filled by houses, then the foot carrier takes over. Ira said that just recently the Los Ranchitos tract became "dismounted".

We gathered from all this that there were still plenty of the rural-type boxes and will be for some time to make a pretty worthwhile project for the Future Farmers.

—o—

You know we like that term "mounted". For some reason in our mind's eye we sorta envision a pony express set-up with horses and shooting and stuff like that. And leather mail bags flung over the riders' shoulders as they gallop off into the horizon.

(Maybe we have been seeing too many TV westerns).

Our local "mounties" however have a more mundane existence, as they go from box to box in their patriotically painted buckboards with the right-hand drives.

—o—

Judge John Blaine's column, "Over the Years" is proving as popular as we had hoped it would be. "Old-timers" are reading it avidly as we kinda had an idea they would. We surmise that "new-timers'' are also enjoying the little tidbits that the Judge digs up.

Last week, the Judge mentioned the tree that was planted in the Grammar School yard by the president of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce. The Judge was not sure of either the date or who was the president.

We know now.

Herb Shadle called us both to set us right. Herb was the president and the year was 1932 on Washington's Birthday. The planting of the tree was part of the Old Settlers' Celebration of that year. The celebration (second oldest in California) was along in years even then, for it was the 38th annual one that had been held.

We hope to go into more details on that particular celebration in a subsequent issue. Herb brought in some pictures and background material which we are going to use. We're happy to learn that he has kept a pretty fair scrapbook over the years he has been a resident of Campbell.

We have an idea we will be calling on him from time to time.

With both Herb and the Judge filling us in, we should be in a right smart position as far as local history is concerned.

—o—

We warned you before that we would be mentioning our Boxer dog "Checkers", from time to in this column. It won't take much to get us started.

For example, City Clerk Dorothy Trevethan called us this week to ask whether "Checkers" was missing. Someone had found a female Boxer in San Jose that had a Campbell license plate. She thought she could shortstop a check of the license files, if our dog had wandered away.

"Checkers'' fortunately appears quite contented with her new home and has not wandered more than a block so far.

Coincidentally the weekend "Checkers" came to live with us, Dick Mayne, local police officer, picked up a male Boxer that had been wandering around town. No one immediately claimed the dog, so Dick ran an ad in the lost and found columns.

In the meantime, Dick's four youngsters had become attached to the animal who appeared perfectly satisfied to become a police dog, at least a policeman's family dog.

When the rightful owner showed up, it was rough on the kids, as you can imagine.

The Maynes had dubbed the dog, "Butch" and oddly enough that happened to be the dog's real name.

Farm Group Gives Endorsement to Water Bond Issue

Stressing the protection of our underground water supply as vital to industry, homes, and agriculture alike, the Santa Clara County Farm Bureau has endorsed the forthcoming $3,000,000.00 Bond Issue of the Santa Clara Valley Water Conservation District.

In a resolution voted by the Board of Directors, Farm Bureau noted that rural and urban residents "have traditionally cooperated in developing our unique system of water conservation.''

Pointing out the fact that agriculture and allied food processing, shipping, etc., account for many thousands of jobs in the Santa Clara Valley, the Farm Bureau resolution emphasized the fact that the bonds, necessary for improvement and expansion of the Water Conservation District's ability to put each year's rain water into underground storage, will still leave water conservation taxes better than 15% lower than their highest totals in the past.

The Bond Election, March 26, affects residents of San Jose, Campbell, Coyote, parts of Morgan Hill, Cambrian Park, Berryessa, Alum Rock District, Santa Clara, Sunnyvale, Mountain View, Cupertino, Milpitas, and parts of Saratoga and Los Gatos.

A citizens' committee headed by E. A. Mirassou, Evergreen, is organizing to provide information on the Bond Issue to the voters of the District.

WHAT'S DOING

T. K. Nordheim, your Telephone Manager in Campbell

If a machine answers, don't be surprised—and don't hang up. What you hear is an Automatic Answering Set. It could happen when you call a business man at lunch time. Or a doctor after office hours. These remarkable machines give callers a recorded greeting, take a recorded message. They're being used more and more in offices these days. And in homes, too. By guarding against "lost" calls, they make your telephone service more useful than ever . . . worth more to you.

* * * * *

One of the most useful ways to use your telephone is for shopping. Especially when you're guided by the Yellow Pages of your telephone book. At a loss for gift or decorating ideas? Try browsing through the Yellow Pages. See if you don't come up with an answer. Have a definite service or item in mind? Page headings—in easy alphabetical order—will lead you right to it. Remember, whatever you need, you'll find it fast in the Yellow Pages.

* * * * *

And if it's convenience you'd like in your home, additional phones in the rooms where you live a lot are the answer. Just think, with another phone in the kitchen and the bedroom you'd be within a step or two of answering any time the phone rings. And for all those steps saved day after day, each additional phone in your home costs you only $1.00 a month after one initial charge. They're available in eight new decorator colors, too. Pacific Telephone.

California Slips to Second Place In Average Salaries for Teachers

Capitol News Service

A comprehensive survey of teacher salary schedules printed in the January issue of the Tax Digest, a booklet issued by the California Tax Association, shows that California has slipped back a notch from being the state with the highest average salaries in the United States.

In 1956, that honor goes to the state of New York, which the magazines tables lists as paying an average salary of $5,550 per year to its teachers.

California, which previously had the highest rate, has dropped back to second place in the nation's table, with an average salary of $5,150, according to the figures, which were supplied to Tax Digest by the National Education Association.

175 vs. 300 Days

The magazine points out, however, that the teacher salaries cover a working year of from 175 to 180 days, which when compared with a basic year in industry of 300 days, would give the result of $8,583 average salary if California's teachers worked full time.

Also, the average salary, the magazine says, represents compensation for classroom teaching and related duties.

"However, if teachers have additional assignments or responsibilities such as counseling, athletic coaching, classes for special pupils, or supervision, the schedules provide for a further salary increment," the article concludes, which would mean that the teachers in these classes would receive above the average.

Further survey by the Tax Association indicates that about 70 per cent, or seven out of ten of California's teachers, are being paid $5,000 a year or more.

One of the reasons for the drop to second place, the article points out is as follows:

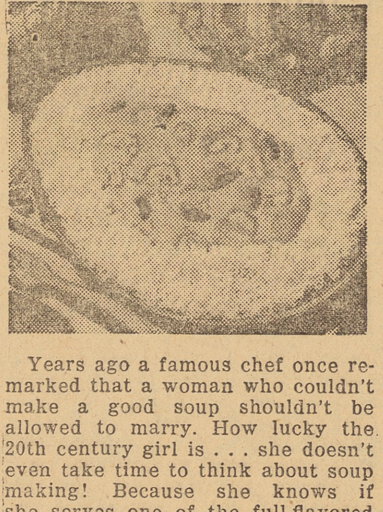
"Although the average salary for teachers in New York exceeds that in California, it should be recognized that the school population is growing at a more rapid rate in California, and that this means a need for more new teachers.

"New teachers are employed at lower levels in a salary schedule, and this tends to reduce the amount computed as an average salary for all teachers in the state."

Only 534 of the 51,629 teachers covered by the Tax Digest study are receiving annual salaries of less than $4,000, and many of these are not fully credentialed or do not have a bachelor's degree. Nearly 30 percent of all teachers receive from $4,000 to $5,000 annually; 31 percent get between $5,000 and $6,000; 27 percent from $6,000 to $7,000 and 14 percent from $7,000 to $8,000. Of 170 teachers who receive more than $8,000 annually, 121 of these are junior college instructors in San Francisco.

The survey becomes important as statistical material for legislators in view of the battle that will be staged next March over additional taxes on beer, and a new tax on cigarettes, to provide another $70,000,0000 annually primarily for teacher salary increases throughout the state. California now has a minimum salary law of $3,400, and a bill to fix the minimum at $4,000, which would affect only one percent of the teachers, is before the legislature.

Frozen Soups Catch Compliments



Years ago a famous chef once remarked that a woman who couldn't make a good soup shouldn't be allowed to marry. How lucky the 20th century girl is . . . she doesn't even take time to think about soup making! Because she knows if she serves one of the full-flavored frozen soups available at her corner grocery store, she's bound to catch smiles which say "this is so good!"

Today there are all sorts of magic tricks for serving and varying these soups. Take for instance frozen condensed oyster stew . . . serve it plain, add a bit of shredded cheese, or even make a casserole with it. Or combine it with frozen condensed cream of shrimp soup to make a new soup mate. Ideas for frozen condensed pea with ham soup are just as numerous. A reputation for always serving good soups is a challenge to any chef, past or present.

Like to share one of the modern homemakers' "inventions" made with frozen condensed cream of shrimp soup . . . then try this recipe for . . .

Creamed Shrimp With Olives

1 can (10-ounces) frozen condensed cream of shrimp soup
⅓ cup milk
¼ cup sliced ripe olives
3 cups cooked rice

Combine ingredients; heat slowly, stirring frequently. Serve over hot rice. Makes 4 servings.

Play Opens at Alcazar Theatre On February 24

Presented by Huntington Hartford, prior to its Broadway engagemen, Charles O'Neal's dynamic and exciting new play, "Praise House", opens an engagement of one week only at the Alcazar Theatre, beginning Sunday evening, February 24, in fact, this will be its world premiere.

"Praise House" is an intriguing story, based on the marriage of an Australian girl to an American GI of Negro extraction. The drama developes out of the consternation and chaos created when the girl visits the home of the soldier's mother in a small community in the deep south.

Featured in the large company of forty people, will be Louise Beavers, star of stage and screen and of the TV "Beulah" Series, who portrays the role of "Sister Hilaria", head of "Praise House", lover of all human kind, and mother of the soldier. Other featured players are Betsy Paul, Hari Rhodes, John Parrish, Isabelle Cooley, Napoleon Whiting, Felix Nelson, Milton Wood, Ruby Goodwin, and Robert DeCoy.

The production is staged by Demetrios Vilan, who staged such theatrical successes as "Affairs of State" with Marsha Hunt; Billie Burke in "Life With Mother", the Broadway revival of "On Borrowed Time"; "The Man" with Dorothy Gish; "The Rainmaker", with Jan Sterling and Don Defore.

Jay Krause is responsible for the setting. Special music for "Praise House" was written by Doris Akers. Mail orders are now being received. Seat sale began at the Alcazar Box-office Monday February 18.

Campbell's Future Plans Aired at Rotary Meeting

"Campbell's Planning Future", was the subject discussed by Sam O'Brien, deputy district attorney and chairman of the Campbell Planning Commission, when he spoke at the Monday luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club.

O'Brien said the Commission, with consideration to the future growth of Campbell, is setting up "neighborhoods" complete with housing units and shopping centers. Tentative future boundaries of the city are the result of "agreements" with Los Gatos and San Jose. He also said that as the city grows, it will be necessary to enlarge commercial areas and, at the present time, plans for the manufacturing area are being worked out with the cooperation of the city of Los Gatos.

In answer to questions, O'Brien said the type of community determines cost of taxes. Cities with industry have a lower tax rate than cities with none, because without industry municipal support falls entirely upon its resident.

Chairman of the day was Homer Hyde.

LAW IN ACTION

FUTURE TENSE LAW

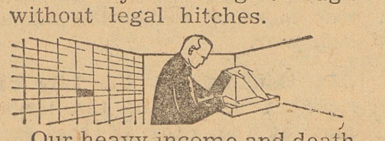
You can tell a lot about people by the way they regard time.

Do they put stock mostly in the past — their record; the present—their direct joy in work or play; or the future —their plans. Why not use all three dimensions of time? Past experience to guide, the present for zest, and the future to realize dreams.

Lawyers report a sharp shift in the way people regard time and the law: Of old they thought of law in terms of past facts like failures to meet legal duties, misdeeds, etc.—facts useful chiefly in lawsuits.

You still have to think of the record, since you may have to go to trial some time. So keep good records of your affairs.

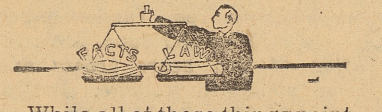
But more and more people now also think of the law in the future tense—in terms of built-in safeguards for plans which they want to go through without legal hitches.



Our heavy income and death taxes have made people plan ahead legally, rather than wait for the axe to fall.

Any time you buy or sell a home or a business or make an investment you have choices of how you may do it—some wise, some not, in view of your circumstances.

Should you take title in joint tenancy or as community property? Should you do business as a sole proprietor, a partnership, or corporation? Do your contracts set out ways of meeting unexpected events? How best may you serve your estate (and also carry out your wishes)—by a will or a trust, or by direct gifts?



While all of these things point forward, the past in the form of court records can serve you by showing where trouble may come from.

As more and more people know the symptoms of legal trouble — where to look for legal hitches in plans before big trouble starts, there will be fewer law suits and better human relations.

And where does trouble sometimes start? Most often where you lack a clear grasp of your relationship, your rights and duties, and your own and the other fellow's resources— in transactions involving large personal or financial stakes.

REPRESENTATIVE IN CONGRESS
TENTH DISTRICT, CALIFORNIA

"More with less" sounds like double talk, but I can assure you it is not the case with our National Defense.

Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson has announced that our Army, Navy and Air Force will have a combined strength of 2,800,000 men, 100,000 less than authorized. At the same time, our contemplated Air Force of 137 wings will be cut to 128. Yet, he claims we are better able to meet the Soviet threat than ever before.

This statement is made in spite of information that the Soviets have built more warships of all types since World War II than all the rest of the world combined. They have improved their Air Force in quality and numbers and have not reduced their manpower. If this isn't double talk on the part of Secretary Wilson, then why isn't it?

The answer is in new weapons and guided missiles in particular. More striking power, more fire power, greater mobility, all add up to more effectiveness with less men.

The reduction from 137 to 128 wings is probably due for the closest scrutiny, and yet this cut can be explained thoroughly. In the first place, the development of guided missiles has made it possible for the Army to provide its own close-in ground support for infantry divisions. Thus, we can do without several tactical fighter wings. Furthermore, many bomber wings which were composed in the past of 36 planes now have a strength of 45. New planes, better armor, and better weapons have provided far more power than the Air Force once had with superior numbers of aircraft. Eleven of the new B-52 wings will possess the strength of 16½ of the old wings made up of B-36s.

An all-atomic powered Navy by 1970 will increase its range and allow the same work to be done with a smaller number of ships. Faster vessels will require smaller destroyer escorts. Smaller crews will be necessary as anti-aircraft batteries, incapable of bringing down today's supersonic jet fighter, give way to guided missiles fired from ships especially equipped to handle them. Without exception, our military leaders replied to questioning from our Armed Services Committee that they were confident they could the Soviet Union and launch a counter-offensive which would insure the safety of this country. We now have the greatest striking force in the history of our Defense establishment. Not only can we defend ourselves if attacked, I am sure that our great military power will keep us from ever being attacked in the first place. Perhaps it is magic, but I am convinced that the claim of "more with less" is not double talk.

Not Stopping When Buses Flash Red Causes Accidents

Drivers failing to stop for school buses displaying flashing red lights have been involved in several traffic accidents this month says the California Highway Patrol.

"The law is clear on this subject and it prohibits a driver approaching from either direction from passing along any street or highway," declared Patrol Commissioner B. R. Caldwell. "The only exception is when a school bus displaying the flashing red lights is stopped on the opposite portion of a divided highway.

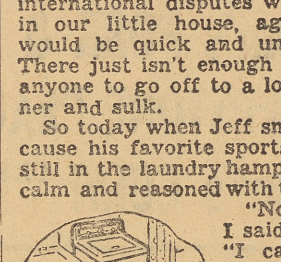
It should also be remembered that it is not necessary to stop if the school bus is stopped and the red lights are not flashing," Caldwell stated. "The important thing is to know and obey all the laws regarding school buses thus helping to protect our children."

So this is HOUSEKEEPING

BY SHIRLEY STUART

I've often told Jeff that if international disputes were aired in our little house, agreements would be quick and unanimous. There just isn't enough room for anyone to go off to a lonely corner and sulk.

So today when Jeff snarled because his favorite sports shirt is still in the laundry hamper, I kept calm and reasoned with the brute.



"Now look," I said sweetly, "I can't dash over to the laundry every day. I'm waiting until the laundry load is big enough to make the trip worth-while."

"What I need is a personal valet," Jeff fumed.

"What we need is an automatic washer," I corrected him gently.

Jeff looked around our tiny cottage.

"A bulky piece of laundry equipment would push us out in the yard," he said glumly. "This place is barely big enough for the two of us."

"What about the extra space in the bathroom?" I prompted. "Two feet is all it takes for a new RCA Whirlpool New Yorker automatic."

I told Jeff this new washer was especially designed for small families in small quarters. And it has the same top-of-the-line features as larger models—a built-in lint filter, 3-temperature selection, infinite water level control and two separate washing actions.

"Not only could I wash a full 8-lb. load of your shirts, I could launder a 2-lb. load of lingerie.

PLANNING ON PLANTING?

GARDENER'S CHECK LIST

By The California Association of Nurserymen

REMINDERS

1. This is an excellent time to plant Camellias. Many varieties now blooming in local nurseries. By proper selection of varieties you can have Camellias in bloom until late spring.

2. There are many California native trees and shrubs which should be used more in gardens. Ask your nurseryman to show you these drought-resistant plants.

3. If you delay in planting deciduous flowering trees, you may be disappointed, because many nurserymen sell them only bare root during the dormant season.

4. For colorful hedges, try a planting of the new Floribunda Cluster Roses.

5. The fragrant Daphne, which is blooming now, can be transplanted into the garden.

Bare Root Planting

The bare-root method is usually best for planting deciduous trees and roses, and now is the time to plant them. They will have plenty of time to become established in their new homes, and be ready to give you maximum growth and blooms when the growing season starts.

There are several steps in the correct method of bare root planting, advises the California Association of Nurserymen. If you have had time to work a generous quantity of manure into the ground two or three months before planting, so much the better. If not, use no fertilizer until new growth is well started.

For unprepared ground, fill the planting hole with water and let it drain away. Then fill with unfertilized garden soil shaping the dirt into a mound on which you place the bare-root tree or bush. Make sure this mound is at the proper height so that the plant will sit in the soil at the same depth it was planted at the nursery. (A dirt ring around the trunk will indicate the proper depth.) Loosen the soil around the hole to a considerable depth. If the soil is hard, make the hole larger and mix in mulching.

Before you set the plant in the hole, prune it, maintaining a reasonable balance between the size of the roots and the branches—your nurseryman can advise on the proper pruning. It is very important to have the roots and branches in balance for if they're not, the growth of the plant will be hampered.

Set the plant on the mound in the planting hole and spread out its roots, filling the soil in and around the roots so there are no air pockets. When the hole is filled, water well so the soil will settle. Make a watering basin around the plant for future irrigation.

Water your newly planted trees and roses regularly and fertilize roses with the first growth.

If you have any special problems in bare root planting consult your nurseryman. He can give you expert advice on planting in your locale and he'll have fertilizers and mulches available, as well as many varieties of trees and roses, for your bare root planting.

Spirea and Weigelas

Easy to grow and easily two of the most attractive deciduous foundation shrubs for California gardens are the Spirea, commonly called Bridal Wreath, and the Weigela.

The Bridal Wreath is available in several handsome varieties, one of which is the popular Anthony Waterer. This variety begins to bloom in June, when most of the other Spireas have finished, and continues into fall. It is low-growing, two to three feet tall, with rosy-red flowers. Because of its size, the Anthony Waterer is often used as a perennial type plant in flower borders.

Taller growing (to six feet), the Spirea prunifolia plena is usually called Bridal Wreath. Its dark green leaves turn red in the fall and the small white flowers appear in early spring.

Other Spirea varieties popular in California include Reeves Spirea (S. cantoniensis), S. thunbergii and S. vanhouttei, which is the most commonly planted variety. These three grow from five to six feet tall and in spring their branches are covered with white flowers.

Spireas can be planted in sun or part shade. They should be pruned annually; cut the flowering wood to the ground as soon as the flowers fade, recommends the California Association of Nurserymen.

The Weigela is hardy in all areas of the state and requires no special care except pruning, which is necessary to have a good looking shrub.

Weigela florida grows to eight or ten feet tall. Its arching branches have dark green leaves and pink to red, funnel-shaped flowers in May and June. A variegation of this bears cream and green splotched foliage. Bristol Ruby and Eva Rathke are name varieties popular for their deep red flowers. Eva Rathke grows low, three or four feet in height, and blooms later than most Weigelas.

After blooming, prune the branches of the Weigela that have flowered back to the unflowered laterals. Leave only one or two laterals per stem and cut some of the older stumps to the ground; suckers should be thinned out leaving only a few of the most vigorous.

Lily of the Valley

Quaint and old fashioned as it is, the Lily of the Valley (Convalaria majalis) is nevertheless a popular flower in California gardens and it can be grown in a number of interesting ways.

Lily of the Valley bulbs or pips are attractive when planted in garden beds in mass or as border flowers; the Lily is also charming in scattered drifts along a garden walk. As a carpet planting between Camellias and Rhododendrons, the Lily is ideal since it requires the same garden conditions.

The Lily of the Valley blooms in early spring with bell-shaped flowers of white or pinkish white on stems rising from two basal leaves. The fragrant flowers are tiny and the stems only six to eight inches high.

A rampant grower, the Lily may easily push its way into the roots of nearby flowers; therefore, it is a good idea to plant it in restricted quarters, suggests the California Association of Nurserymen. A tub or pan set into the ground will protect other small flowers nearby. Plant the pips in rich soil with lots of leaf mold or peat in it. Because the Lily grows so abundantly, it is a good idea to open up the beds, remove surplus plants and refertilize the ground so the remaining plants will grow bigger. Spread a top dressing of rotted leaf mold, peat moss or well-rotted manure each year.

In thinning out the Lily bed, pick out several of the largest buds at the ends of the plant roots.

Top Priority

State Health Officials Want All Californians to Get Polio Shots

The vacination of all Californians against polio has been declared top priority in the State Health Department, according to Dr. Malcolm H. Merrill, state health director.

Shortly after Governor Goodwin J. Knight signed the bill earmarking $3,000,000 in state funds for the purchase of polio vaccine and for the administration of public vaccination programs, the director established a vaccination program unit under the direction of Dr. A. C. Hollister, chief of the Acute Communicable Diseases.

Unit personnel, explained Dr. Merrill, will assist local health officers in organizing community vaccination programs geared to an early March campaign covering the entire state. Program objective, he added, is to vaccinate as many persons as possible against paralytic polio before the early summer start of the disease season.

While programs will vary among health jurisdictions, said the director, the State Health Department urges that planning include the establishment of local planning committees, planned promotional programs, active participation of the medical profession and accessible, free, public vaccination clinics.

The state funds will purchase sufficient vaccine to provide two inoculations for 2,000,000 Californians, representing one-third of the 6,000,000 persons under the age of 40, which is considered the population of highest polio risk. However, said Dr. Merrill, the free vaccine will not be denied any Californian who is over 40 years of age.

Emphasizing that polio is not just a disease of children, the director reported that in California, one-third of all polio occurs in the young adult group age 20 and over; and polio in this age group usually is more severe in its effects.

"Obviously," continued Dr. Merrill, "the state-purchased vaccine will not afford protection to all of the high risk group. It is hoped that this public program will stimulate the whole population to seek protection through vaccination from their private physicians and by other means which would supplement the public program."

"It will require a total community effort to assure the vaccination of masses of people against polio by summer," the director declared.
